A vital sector like health care in which Health Care Management Department aims to educate the career development of qualified employees is becoming increasingly important. Career development is expected to play an important role in people's working lives direction.

In this study, Süleyman Demirel University, Isparta Vocational School of Health Care Management Department students develop a career with the Tree Diagram which one of the method were used in providing tools for quality improvement. The method of Tree Diagram shows that any actions required to achieve the goal. Diagram with the overall objective of the project begins and progresses towards the lower levels. With the method of Tree Diagram, according to students' career planning and career goals aim to determine how they can be developing their careers. As a result of this study is concluded that such methods training and development, career centers can develop their careers. Thus, the elimination of deficiencies of students with in developing a career and aims to improve the efficiency of human resources.