People struggle to lead lives as the universal poverty rises continuously by motive of income inequality, economic crisis, and unemployment. People tend to informal sector for they can't find an effective solution for unemployment in the process of struggle. Informal sector both makes employee working in the worst conditions without assurance and causes social damages like tax loss, unfair competition, cultural backwardness, and marginal urban structure. Today, we can observe the social cost clearly in informal sector that poverty brings. This study intends to declare the social aspects of street hawker's life style as actors of informal sector that concentrate in the urban areas.
