In this study, the mining industry in the process of harmonization with the EU enacted or repealed in the fields of occupational health and safety laws, rules and regulations as to what caused the changes are evaluated. As a result of this assessment in the mining sector in the field of Occupational Health and Safety laws and regulations issued despite the reduction in the number of deaths in accidents at work and on the contrary there is an increase has been observed in recent years. As a result of this observation as to what causes the increase in the number of deaths due to accidents at work and suggestions about what needs to be assessed and presented.