In this paper relationship between accountability of enterprises and performance ratios were mutually tested moving from the idea of companies applying financial reporting standards and corporate governance principles would be in a more accountable situation. Research part of the study contains measurement of accountability of ISE-30 index companies, determination of performance effects, such analyzes were performed with datas gathered from web site of Public Disclosure Platform (PDP) and annual reports. Accountability score table was composed with questionary form specially on 2009 annual reports. Scores were applied to granger causality analysis with performance ratios, that are considered as financial performance ratios.