an essential prerequisite for a civilized life. The problems in the vocational training system which is an important element of the educational system and presented students with the opportunity to have been mentioned in many studies. The purpose of this research (which is a long history of over 35 years) is to examine the existing problems to examine this and students with reveal that constitute vocational training opportunities. Students taking the idea of centers brainstorming with this ways to apply this kind of technique is to identify a specific problem or possible causes of the condition and of great importance because of attaining effective results to explore. Resulting of the study is one of the oldest institutions Suleyman Demirel University, Isparta Vocational School will be effective for the vision, as well as emerging to be the problem with the solutions when the opportunities may be of importance in which bringing the developer suggestions.

The most significant findings obtained from the research results; unable to obtain vocational skills of young people in vocational training institutions that have a high probability of becoming unemployed, the necessity of improving the quality of vocational schools and has been identified as the need for the establishment of an education-employment relationship. Students who were participated in the study as the most important in the vocational opportunities they catch, they have the opportunity to earn money while training and is seen to be able to carry out educational activities with their earnings.