The press, meeting the needs of the community to get news, became both information and idea communication tool in time and became a spokesperson for the citizens.