Abstract:

Natural resources have an important role in the economical development of the countries.