A Study on the Street Trees in Isparta City

Abstract: The road, boulevard and refuge trees in open green areas of Isparta city have important positions because of their aesthetical and functional benefits upon urban life, and it is an inevitable reality. It is a complex study entailed technical, aesthetical, biological and ecological knowledge. As a result of this study, it was revealed that the street trees studies in Isparta city were wrong and deficient, and not takes into consideration technical principle. In order to attain the main purpose, it is necessary to carry out the plantation activities in the frame of the principles and knowledge of planning, designing, maintaining, tending and related professional disciplines.