Different accounting principles and various regulations (laws) in most of the countries lead accounting services to prepare in different form financial tables. Indeed, those financial tables would vary by countries. In order to standardize preparation of financial tables, International Accounting Standards have been introduced. Turkish Accounting standards have been also developed to follow international standards. In this research, attitudes of accounting personnel to accounting standards have been examined and the results have been statistically examined.