In this study, an easy to use tuning program has been implemented using LabVIEW with a simple interface. Sound is provided from sound card and then processed as a format of real time. This program especially developed for newbie electro guitar players or tone-deaf musicians who can’t do tuning consequently.