In the study the tourism in Isparta analyzed. The current circumstance of the tourism in Isparta is discussed, the problems of city tourism are examined, the alternative tourism kinds, in order to develop the city, are handled and in this framework the resolution are proposed. According to the verities found, the problems of the city tourism are; inability to capitalize from different kinds of tourism, insufficiency of tour organizations, the seasonality of tourism, the shortness of the accommodation period. In order to solve the problems of the city tourism; a tourism policy that is constructed on culture and creed-tourism, considers different types of tourism and focuses on domestic tourists should be applied.